

I think it is important to maintain the ownership of all forms of media in as many hands as possible. Any further deregulation can only decrease our access to the information we need to be a well-informed and education population, the population needed for a true democracy.